However, these public sector bodies do not guarantee to award a minimum or indeed any value of work through this Framework Agreement and reserve the right to procure works by other means in relation to specific schemes or programmes of work.

These include Economic Regeneration, Carbon and Waste Reduction, Training and Employment initiatives, training of their staff to new ways of working, BIM and New Models of Construction Procurement.

In addition there will be significant investment required from clients in undertaking the selection and evaluation process, and in particular the training of their staff and consultants to new ways of working.
